After a short safety talk, every participant gets a life-jacket before taking to the lake.

Depending on participant age and current fleet condition, there are enough boats to entertain 30-50 people at a time.

Three staff members will assist your group during this activity; one in land and two on a safety boat.

The lake is very cold and there is a small current in it.

You will need to dress according to weather, and keep in mind that your clothes might get wet.

Activity is run on an hourly basis, so your group can choose how many hours they want to use.
